THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

invites qualified applicants who are orthodontists for a 2 or 3 year research fellowship in the Department of Orthodontics. There are opportunities for teaching in the predoctoral and graduate programs as well as rendering patient care. Active conducted research as well as preparation of research grant applications should be expected.

If the 3 year period is selected, then upon successful completion of a course of studies developed by the Department, including a thesis based on original research, along with satisfactory performance of clinical service to the patients, the individual will be awarded a certificate in the specialty at the end of the period. An excellent command of English language is required.

Stipend of $15,000 the first year, $18,000 the second year, and $21,000 the third year.
